

EXTREME FACILITATION

COURSE DESCRIPTION

Facilitation is a role that demands exceptional interpersonal skills, keen observation, insight, and tact. The facilitator is a director, coach, and catalyst. They must create a safe environment even as they push people out of their comfort zone. Facilitators must drive for results even as they allow participants to find their own answers. And they must lead the effort even as they give control to others.

This five-day program provides participants with the opportunity to learn master facilitation techniques, develop relevant exercises and practice in front of a group of discerning peers. Daily individualized feedback sessions enable the participants to improve their skills rapidly.

OUTCOMES

After completing this course participants will be able to:

- Create a safe environment
- Initiate active learning
- Use effective facilitation techniques
- Involve and engage participants
